

Sometimes letting things go
Is an act of far greater power
Than defending or hanging on.

~ Eckhart Tolle ~

What happens
when someone else makes important choices for you?

Why do you sometimes have to “let go” in order to live a better life?

What can you do if you make a choice that turns out to be the wrong choice for you?